

Proclamation

by

Steven L. Beshear
Governor of the

Commonwealth of Kentucky

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

WHEREAS, For generations of Kentuckians, the Commonwealth has been the place of choice to live, work and raise a family; and

WHEREAS, Technology empowers our citizens to compete in a global economy and pursue their dreams from within their home state; and

WHEREAS, Technology opens the door to a world-class education and distance-learning opportunities for Kentucky students and their families; and

WHEREAS, Technology enables higher quality healthcare, improves government efficiencies and increases civic engagement; and

WHEREAS, It is in the Commonwealth's best interest to promote and make our citizens, businesses and organizations aware of the transforming ability of technology;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, STEVEN L. BESHEAR, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby proclaim April 29, 2011, as in Kentucky, and encourage all to strive to integrate broadband technologies into their lives at work, school and home, so Kentucky can thrive in the 21st century.

DONE AT THE CAPITOL, in the City of Frankfort this 30th day of March, in the year of Our Lord Two Thousand Eleven and in the 219th year of the Commonwealth.
